

Comment from Dexter Wang

2 way communication built into new card must be unobtrusive and totally controllable by the driver/owner. It must be able to be turned completely off by owner, if desired. It must put no demands on owner that are not desired by owner. Features must be selected by owner for use. Cost should be borne by owner only for features desired. No cost should be borne by owner, if no features are desired. It cannot be used by public or private entities to track a vehicle or its use, without full permission of owner.