I have a 2009 GMC Sierra1500_Bought the truck used 05/17, and the airbag light has been on ever since. It is now Jan 15th 2019 and when looking at the provided web site by the NHTSA and GM, the message I get is GM isn't replacing any air bags because there degreed engineers have deemed them safe, and functioning as intended. Well I too, am a engineer and I'm looking at a bunch of legal horse shit. GM has payed people off to escape there legal liability. In short (the air bag light has come on for the simple reason, (IT's defective and needs service) I've owned GM vehicles for over 30 years and this is the absolute first, and the most serious problem I can't get resolved. I will continue to monitor the information available by this site and GM's, and will look at legal options to remedy this Life Threatening Issue ASAP.
