I have a 2011 Chevrolet Tahoe which has had a recall listed for safety of the Takata air bag inflators used in it since 2016-2017. All the information in the testing etc. is listed as confidential ! I have aright to know why GM has refused to take action on the safety hazard to me and my family in my vehicle . It is still listed as a safety recall but no action is being taken . According to records 61% of the vehicles recalled with this problem have been fixed but GM refuses to fix mine . What is going on ??? I want action NOW before someone in my family gets seriously " Injured or Killed" according to the verbage in the recall . My son and his wife were just hit head on by a drunk driver at over 70 miles per hour on a major highway here in Florida in our Chrysler Town and Country . All the air bags deployed properly and saved their lives . What is going on with GM ?? I want this fixed now ! Don't wait until someone else is killed .
