

Comment from Tammy Wilson

It is absurd that General Motors has been allowed to skirt this issue, while other big auto dealers, such as Honda, have handled this dangerous issue. Will it take another death, then a law suit to bring GM to it's knees, followed by an additional class action suit against the NHTSA in order for you to do your job? This has gone on for nearly three years. DO YOUR JOB! GM should not be allowed to continue to file objections.