

Comment from LARRY JARRETT

The airbags in my 2011 2500HD truck are bad and have been recalled. How can something like this take so long to repair.

General Motors should not be able to get out of replacing defective airbags that they purchased from another supplier.

I guess that their bean counters have figured that all the deaths and injuries caused by these airbags is cheaper than replacing them.