

Comment from Erik Rosen

Mandating wireless communications in all cars, aside from being a privacy and hacking hazard, WILL present serious dangers to health, especially for those who are already electrically sensitive. Enough is enough!