

Comment from Thomas Marinello

I oppose the V2V communication. I definitely feel uneasy driving here in Los Angeles surrounded by thousands of cars radiating wireless signals. My symptoms are jittery and concentration issues. It always accuses driving longer distances in traffic and on freeways. This is not imaginary. My car has v2v built in and when I compare my car to my previous one (also new) without v2v I notice a difference